AMERICANIZATION

John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" was played in a Tokyo theatre by a Japanese canization. The actors followed their training in "freezing" when a fellow-actor spoke, in bowing from the waist instead of nodding and in waiving their hands before their faces for a "no." There was no applause, as the Japanese do not either clap hands or cheer in appreciation of any spectacle.

Despite what must have been a halting performance, the fact that they would even attempt such a play, shows the nation's great ple who easily learned to copy. Perhaps now they will follow the lead of peace—if the Occident can itself set up such a pattern.

DDT IN GREECE

A disease that affects two-thirds of a country's habitable area bulks large in its life. Malaria does this for Greece, and has for a long time. Some scientists think this the reaon why the ancient Greeks, perhaps the most brilliant group of men who ever gathered together, left successors who fell below their standards. American experience with undrained swamps shows what a toll malaria can take of human energies.

Now DDT, the new exterminator, offers hope for Greece. Col. Daniel E. Wright of the army's Public Health Service announces plans to spray the mosquito-infested areas. Many workers will be trained under the auspices of the Rockefeller Foundation. By the end of 1946 the island of Crete should be entirely freed of mosquitos. The mainland

It is to be hoped that Greece will escape the perils which seem to lurk in the lavish use of DDT as well as those of malaria.

HONORING THE POTATO

The humble Irish potato comes into new respect with the slogan suggested by the Department of Agriculture's save-the-wheat program: "Reach for a potato instead of more bread." The potato, it seems, isn't Irish at all, but Spanish, in origin. A sixteenth century monk is supposed to have introduced it from Peru into Spain. His name was Cardan, and it is set down here, for he deserves more recognition than he's had. At about the same time, colonists under Sir Walter Raleigh found the tubers growing in what is now North Carolina, and brought some of them back to Raleigh's estate in Cork where the good gentleman who was also busy getting the tobacco habit planted among Europeans, gave orders that the potato be carefully cultivated. Those first potatoes were the size of walnuts were eaten roasted, Indian Europeans were immediately enthusiastic about the potato, and it looks as if Americans were going to develop new enthusiasm for it, in order that the descendants of those Europeans may have more wheat to eat.

Irma is an American girl born in Cincinnati of Hungarian parents. A copy of her birth certificate is now in my possession. She found herself in Europe during the war and was seized as a slave

Her mother writes as follows:
"I please you very much if it is possible for you to get the papers of my daughter Irma. We are in trouble and I am begging you to try to get them hurriedly. If you haven't time for it please ask Uncle Carl to do it for me.

"Irma is in Russia on work at present with others. And the children that are from mixed marriages are sent home and I can't prove it with-out her paper. It is very need of them now. When she was born there was make a mistake they wrote me as a German and if you could please to fix it orderly. Here they know that I am Hungarian really. . . . "

The mother is in error about being described as a German because the birth certificate clearly states that she is Hungarian. But I do not see that that matters at all. Irma is an American by birth, a citizen of Ohio, entitled to the protection of the American government. Her friends went to the American Red Cross and were told that they could do nothing about an American citizen taken into slavery. They took the matter up with their congressman-William E. Hess. He wrote to the State Department three times: The first letter was not answered; the second received one of those we'll-look-into-it things.

To the third, the State Department replied that it had received a report from its representative in Jugoslavia that Irma had been taken to the Ukraine to work there by the Red Army in Nowas played in a Tokyo theatre by a Japanese vember, 1944. The State Department's representative in Moscow has been instructed to try to ascertain from the Russian government Irma's

Time was when an American citizen could travel the world knowing that his government would protect him. His government, however, has become so strong and so great and so entangled and enmeshed in all the big things that are universal that it has no time for its own citizens. An American is thrown into slavery and nobody gets excited in the State Department. Maybe they are getting used to slavery. Slavery is the degradation of man; it is the liquidation of the dignity of man. No decent perwhether friend or foe. Slavery does not merely mean involuntary servitude; it means that the will of the enslaved ceases to be free; that his mind and character, as well as his body, are the possession of another; that he is by force debased to a thing. No American can, in conscience, condone slavery. The American government dare not permit its existence. As a matter of fact a bent septum does not prevent the same amount of air to flow in and out as when the septum is straight because the openings, though different in size, admit exactly the same amount of air. This, of course, applies where the septum is not bent over so that it touches the wall nostril due to an enlarged turbinate bone or great swelling of the wall from a cold or from allergy. However, where these or other conditions prevent free flow of air through nostril then operation to give a free flow of air becomes necessary. A few years ago operations for straightening the septum, removing enlarged turbinate bones or spurs, were common, the only thought being to give more air space. Today these operations are less common because all operations cause some loss of lining of the nose and this lining is one of Nature's most effective means of preventing any and all infections. It has been shown that this lining of the nose and sinuses can kill fresh groups of organisms every ten minutes. This means that other methods than operation are now in more use than in previous years. Simple salt solutions or weak solutions 14 to 1 per cent) of ephedrine are often sufficient

There are, of course, many cases where ridges, ours, enlarged turbinates, a badly bent septum, a closed or partially closed opening of a sinus must be removed or corrected, but these operations are all done in the best possible way to prevent destruc-tion or loss of the lining of the nose and sinuses.

Oak Leaves Hold On

Although the calendar marks the first day of Spring, the oak tree in front of Kingston High School still keeps its brown leaves of last year. A characteristic of the oak, the leaves do not fall from the branches in the autumn as from most of the other trees. Today the high school tree makes quite a contrast with the lawn turning green and the Spring weather of the last few weeks.

Spaatz Says Air Force Should Control A-Bomb

New York, March 20 (A)-Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, contends that not only should military authorities have a voice in the use of atomic energy but that the logical agency to exercise such control was the Air Force.

Speaking at the third annual dinner of the Wings Club last night, he also called for the unification of the nation's air units independent of the Army and Navy, but coordinated with them under a general command.

AMERICANIZATION

John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" was played in a Tokyo theatre by a Japanese troupe in an unprecedented effort at Americanization. Overcoming many difficulties of translation and inherited traditional stage technique, Lincoln emerged a creditable performance, and the audience, night after might, gave quiet attention. Historical and each act, for which a large map of the United States was used, notable for its inaccuracies. Several states were omitted, or wrongly located, and there were many misspellings chiefly involving the "l" and "r"; Florida was Furorida: Oklahoma was Ohkwrhoma; Ohio was Ohirio. The actors followed their training in "freezing" when a fellow-actor spoke, in bowing from the waist instead of nodding and in waiving their hands before their faces for a "no." There was no applause, as the Japanese do not either clap hands or cheer in appreciation of any spectacle.

Despite what must have been a halting performance, the fact that they would even attempt such a play, shows the nation's great powers of adjustment. They have been a people who easily learned to copy. Unfortunately in the past they followed the design of war set by the Occident. Perhaps now they will follow the lead of peace—if the Occident can itself set up such a pattern.

A disease that affects two-thirds of a country's habitable area bulks large in its life. Malaria does this for Greece, and has for a long time. Some scientists think this the reason why the ancient Greeks, perhaps the most brilliant group of men who ever gathered together, left successors who fell below their standards. American experience with undrained swamps shows what a toll malaria can take of human energies.

Now DDT, the new exterminator, offers hope for Greece. Col. Daniel E. Wright of the army's Public Health Service announces plans to spray the mosquito-infested areas. Many workers will be trained under the ouspices of the Rockefeller Foundation. By the end of 1946 the island of Crete should be entirely freed of mosquitos. The mainland will take longer,

It is to be hoped that Greece will escape the perils which seem to lurk in the lavish use of DDT as well as those of malaria.

Irma is an American girl born in Cincinnati of Hungarian parents. A copy of her birth certificate is now in my possession. She found herself in Europe during the war and was seized as a slave.

lier mother writes as follows:
'I please you very much if it is possible for you to get the papers of my daughter Irma. We are in trouble and I am begging you to try to get them hurriedly. If you haven't time for it please ask Uncle Carl to do it for me.

"Irma is in Russia on work at present with others. And the children that are from mixed marriages are sent home and I can't prove it without her papers. It is very need of them now. When she was born there was make a mistake they when she was born there was make a mistake they wrote me as a German and if you could please to the state of the state of

The mother is in error about being described as a German because the birth certificate clearly states that she is Hungarian. But I do not see that that matters at all. Irma is an American by birth, a citizen of Ohio, entitled to the protection of the American government. Her friends went to the American Red Cross and were told that they could do nothing about an American citizen taken into slavery. They took the matter up with their congressman—William E. Hess. He wrote to the State Department three times: The first letter was not answered; the second received one of those we'll-look-into-it things.

To the third, the State Department replied that it had received a report from its representative in Jugoslavia that Irma had been taken to the Ukraine to work there by the Red Army in November, 1914. The State Department's representative in Moscow has been instructed to try to ascertain from the Russian government Irma's whereabouts.

As it stands, nobody knows where Irma is. An American girl has been seized by an alien army, theoretically allied to us, and is put into slavery. Her mother seeks her in desperation. Her friends seek her almost hopelessly. Our government seems to be impotent. We once fought a war to has kground information was given before , end slavery but now we find that an Americanand how many more?—has been made a slave, moved from the place to another like cattle, deprived of the right to communicate with her family and friends, forbidden to notify the officials of her own government as to her whereabouts, unable to return to her birthplace, Cincinnati, Ohio.

I do not give her family name in this story be-cause the Red Army which enslaved her might shoot her mother for trying to rescue her daughter from durance vile and brutal. That is what Winston Churchill meant by the Iron Curtain that has come down on the stage of Eastern Europe. It is dark there for those who have to live as

Time was when an American citizen could travel the world knowing that his government would protect him. His government, however, has become so strong and so great and so entangled and enmeshed in all the big things that are universal that it has no time for its own citizens. An American is thrown into slavery and nobody gets excited in the State Department. Maybe they are getting used to slavery.

Slavery is the degradation of man; it is the liquidation of the dignity of man. No decent person can tolerate the enslavement of any human being, the holding in bondage of a single person whether friend or foe. Slavery does not merely mean involuntary servitude; it means that the will of the enslaved ceases to be free; that his mind and character, as well as his body, are the pos-session of another; that he is by force debased to a thing. No American can, in conscience, condone slavery. The American government dare not permit its existence. In a suit for damages caused by an automobile accident the claimant testified that his septum (the wall between the two nostrils) had been so bady bent by his face striking against the steering wheel that he was unable to breathe through one side of his nose. The defense put an X-ray expert witness on the stand and asked him if a bent septum was a common condition anyway. The expert replied that in at least forty thousand cases he had observed he had never seen a perfectly building on straight septum. "Then I am to understand that his old stand. we are all crooked" suggested the presiding judge with a twinkle in his eye, As a matter of fact a bent septum does not prevent the same amount of air to flow in and out as when the septum is straight because the openings, though different in size, admit exactly the same amount of air. This, of course, applies where the septum is not bent over so that it touches the wall of nostril due to an enlarged turbinate bone or great swelling of the wall from a cold or from allergy. However, where these or other conditions prevent free flow of air through nostril then operation to give a free flow of air becomes necessary.

A few years ago operations for straightening the septum, removing enlarged turbinate bones or spurs, were common, the only thought being to give more air space. Today these operations are less common because all operations cause some loss of , liming of the nose and this liming is one of Nature's most effective means of preventing any and all ingrowing in what is now; tections. It has been shown that this lining of the every ten minutes. This means that other methods than operation are now in more use than in previous years. Simple salt solutions or weak solutions 1'4 to 1 per cent+ of ephedrine are often sufficient to open up the air passages. There are, of course, many cases where ridges, sours, enlarged turbinates, a badly bent septum, a closed or partially closed opening of a sinus must be removed or corrected, but these operations are all done in the best possible way to prevent destruction or loss of the lining of the nose and sinuses.

Doubts Russia's Ability To Wage Major Campaign

Washington, March 20 (AP)-Soviet Russia's ability to wage a successful major war now was questioned today by a career U.S. Army officer and military observer who said food shortages are major obstacles to further Red Army campaigns.

Col. Conrad H. Lanza, retired, longtime commentator for the semi-official Field Artillery Journal, reported in a survey of cur-rent conditions in Europe and the Middle East that the Soviet Union "faces a critical shortage" in labor and military supplies as well

Lanza who has been writing as a military analyst for the Field Artillery Journal since his retirement after 44 years of active Army service, did not offer any figures to bear out the stringency in So-viet food supplies. Neither did he mention Moscow's recent offer to supply France with several hundred thousand tons of grain to ease that nation's food problem.

He did, however, suggest that Russia's current food situation largely explains the presence of large Red Army concentrations in occupied middle Europe where they have been living off the country to a great extent.

But Famous Cereal Helped Relieve Her Constipation

Harsh laxatives got you feeling dragged out? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"Constipation had me feeling down and out and lacking pep and energy. But not any more. Not since I take ALL-BRAN instead of harsh laxquives. It's imraculous what this fine-tasting cereal can do for a person in such a short time." Miss Mation Krause. 1483 Faircrest Avenue, Detroit 5. Michigan.

You, too, may never have to take another harsh laxative for consti-pation due to lack of bulk in the diet, if you eat KELLOGG'S ALL -BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. Try it as a delicious cereal—and in muffins. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a wholesome cereal made from the vital outer lauers of wheat. It provides gentle bulk helpful to normal laxation. Try it for ten days. If not completely satisfied, send empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. Get double your money back!

MATCHING DRÉSS TO FLOW-ERS ONLY ANSWER

The reason why a man should ask a girl what color dress she is wearing before sending her flowers to wear is made plain in this letter: "If a boy friend brings a corsage to wear to a dance he is taking me to, is it proper to wear it regardless of whether or not it goes with the dress I am wearing that particular evening?"

Of course, you must wear it! In fact, the only thing you can do is either wear a different dress or let the flowers clash. It would be unforgivable to leave them home Promised Present Never Arrived

The executive committee with Doubts Russia's Ability

To Wage Major Campaign

Washington, March 20 (AP)-Soviet Russia's ability to wage a successful major war now was questioned today by a career U. S. Army officer and military observer who said food shortages are major obstacles to further Red Army campaigns.

Col. Conrad H. Lanza, retired, longtime commentator for the semi-official Field Artillery Journal, reported in a survey of current conditions in Europe and the Middle East that the Soviet Union "faces a critical shortage" in labor and military supplies as well

Lanza who has been writing as a military analyst for the Field Artillery Journal since his retire-ment after 44 years of active Army service, did not offer any figures to bear out the stringency in Soviet food supplies. Neither did he mention Moscow's recent offer to supply France with several hundred thousand tons of grain to ease that nation's food problem.

He did, however, suggest that Russia's current food situation largely explains the presence of large Red Army concentrations in occupied middle Europe where they have been living off the country to a great extent.

Of these, 30 are prepared to return to work immediately and the other 21 voted to stay out until local issues are cleared up. Washington, March 21 (AP)-President Truman told a news conference today that a Navy statement on its need for funds was not in line with the facts. The President did not identify the statement. But he said there had been a misunderstanding that Budget Director Harold Smith would explain the whole thing. Two days ago, Admiral Chester W. Pre-Packaging Is Curb To Food Deterioration

Buffalo, N. Y., March 21 (AP) Pre-packaging of fresh fruits and vegetables reduces deterioration loss by about half, says Prof. Charles W. Hauck of Ohio State University.

Hauck addressed the sixth annual conference of the Institute of Food Technologists yesterday, at which other speakers described two new products, powdered orange juice and fruit juice which can be eaten like candy.

The Ohio State professor said that lettuce, cauliflower, peaches, strawberries, tomatoes and other green goods displayed in groceries showed a 30 per cent loss due to deterioration.

"In contrast," he continued, "in etail stores handling prepackaged perishables under refrigeration, sses are negligible. In the packing rooms where we prepare them for the stores, they amount to about 15 per cent—half of that lost when displayed on a shelf."

MATCHING DRESS TO FLOW-ERS ONLY ANSWER

The reason why a man should ask a girl what color dress she is wearing before sending her flowers to wear is made plain in this letter: "If a boy friend brings a corsage to wear to a dance he is taking me to, is it proper to wear it regardless of whether or not it goes with the dress I am wearing that particular evening?"

Of course, you must wear it! In fact, the only thing you can do is either wear a different dress or let the flowers clash. It would be unforgivable to leave them home. Promised Present Never Arrived Dear Mrs. Post: I was married several months ago and at that time a friend of my husband's told his sister that she was sending us a present. To date this has not been received. I am afraid maybe something happened to it and yet at the same time I don't see how can write to her and say didn't come. Once Married No Longer "Miss" Dear Mrs. Post: When a divor cee does not wish to continue using the last name of her former husband and chooses to call herself by her maiden name, then from where does she take back a name to use in front of it? My ex-husband's name is Black, my maiden name was White and now I want to discontinue the name Black, Also, should it be White or Miss White again? I'm afraid all this might be confusing to many people but nevertheless I have made up my mind to put Black into the discard.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or hiers which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daylame, many people have to pet up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to lemain in your blood, it may also cause magazing backache, theumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pen and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and diztiness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Fills, a stimulant directic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out notsonous wasto from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
